

Anthony Cecil Eden Quainton

Career Summary: Distinguished Diplomat in Residence, American University, 2003-; President and CEO: National Policy Association, 1999-2003; Executive Director, Una Chapman Cox Foundation, 1998-1999; Visiting Lecturer, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University, 1998-1999; Director General of the Foreign Service and Director of Personnel, 1995-1997; Assistant Secretary of State for Diplomatic Security, 1992-1995; United States Ambassador to Peru, 1989-1992; Deputy Inspector General, US Department of State, 1987-1989; United States Ambassador to Kuwait, 1984-1987; United States Ambassador to Nicaragua, 1982-84; Director, Office for Combating Terrorism, US Department of State, 1978-1981; United States Ambassador to the Central African Republic, 1976-1978.

Other Department of State Experience: Deputy Chief of Mission, Kathmandu, 1973-76, Political Officer, Paris, 1972-73; Senior Political Officer for India, Washington, 1969-72; Political Economic Officer, New Delhi, 1966-69; Economic Officer, Rawalpindi, 1964-66; Economic Officer, Karachi, 1963-64; Consular and Commercial Officer Sydney, 1960-62.

Awards and Honors: American Foreign Service Association's William R. Rivkin and Christian A Herter awards for "outstanding intellectual originality, courage, forthrightness and constructive dissent" Presidential Meritorious Service Awards (1984 and 1989) Department of State Distinguished Honor Award, 1997, Studentship, Nuffield College, Oxford (1956-1958), Research Fellowship, St. Antony's College Oxford, 1958, Marshall Scholarship, 1955, Order of Central African Merit, 1978 and Order of the Sun (Peru) 1992.

Languages: French, Spanish, Hindi/Urdu, Russian.

Education: St. Michael's School, Victoria. BC, 1942-44; Phillips Academy, Andover, 1948-51; English Speaking Union Schoolboy Fellow, Sherborne School, 1951-52; Princeton University A.B, 1955 (Magna Cum Laude in History, Summa Cum Laude in the Special Program in the Humanities); Middlebury College, Summer Program in Russian Language 1954; Oxford University, B.Litt, 1958; DHL (Honorary) LaRoche College, 2006.

Associations: American Academy of Diplomacy, Washington Institute of Foreign Affairs, Council on Foreign Relations, Lions International; Chairman of the Board, the Washington Theological Consortium; Vice President, the Public Diplomacy

Foundation; Member of the Board, the Interfaith Conference of Metropolitan Washington; Member of the Board of Trustees, LaRoche College.

Publications: “Terrorism and political Violence: A Permanent Challenge to Governments, Terrorism, Legitimacy, and Power, Wesleyan University Press, 1983; “Moral and Ethical Considerations in Defining a Counter Terrorist Policy”, The Rationalization of Terrorism, Altheia Books, 1982; :”Terrorism Policy, Action and Reactions”, Perspectives on Terrorism, Scholarly Resources Inc, 1983, “ Refocusing America’s Message”, America’s Dialogue with the World, ed. William P. Kiehl, 2007.

Family: Married in 1958 to Susan Long. Mrs. Quainton, a graduate of Mt Holyoke College, was a Marshall Scholar at St. Hilda’s College, Oxford. Three children and seven grandchildren.